An exhibition critically exploring the evolving relationship between ubiquitous computing, architecture, and the city, with five newly commissioned projects: Amplibious Architecture, Breakout!, Natural Fuse, Too Smart City, and Trash Track.

Curated by Mark Shepard and organized by the Architectural League.

Look for many more tours of new buildings, exhibitions of architectural and design interest, Urban Omnibus meet-ups, and Design in 5 events, all announced in @theLeague and our website, www.archleague.org.

Visit archleague.org for podcasts of original and archival programming, as well as records of recent programs.

Visit urbanomnibus.net to read Urban Omnibus, an online publication of the Architectural League that explores the relationship between design of all disciplines and the built environment of New York City.

The League has moved.

The Architectural League has moved its offices to a new space at 594 Broadway in Soho, between Prince and Houston Streets. Our emails and phone numbers will stay the same, but please note our new address:

The League is committed to reducing our paper usage. Beginning this year most program announcements will be made via @theLeague and email. If you have not signed up for @theLeague, please visit our website and do so. If you do not have access to the internet and would like to receive written program information, please contact Sarah Snider, snider@archleague.org.

Architectural League programs in 2009-2010 are made possible, in part, by public funds from the National Endowment for the Arts and the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act; the New York State Council on the Arts; a State Agency; and the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs, in partnership with the City Council.
